

The Four Directions of the Medicine Wheel

East – New Beginnings

The East is where the sun rises. It brings hope and the start of a new day.

South – Growth

The South is warm like summer. It helps us grow strong in our hearts and bodies.

West – Reflection

The West is where the sun sets. It is quiet and peaceful, and a time to look within.

North – Wisdom

The North is cold and full of snow. It teaches us patience and strength.